FARM STOCK

DIPPING TANK IS ESSENTIAL

Receptacle May Be Used for Sheep, Hogs and Young Calves—Beneficial in Many Ways.

(By R. S. CURTIS.)

A sheep dipping tank should be on every farm. The tank can not only be used for sheep, but for hogs and young calves as well, so that the entire outlay need not be charged up against the sheep. Dipping is especially valuable in overcoming the ravages of scab, lice and ticks, but it will prove beneficial in preventing eye, nose and mouth troubles. If regular dipping is practiced it will not only prevent to a large extent many of the ravages common to sheep, but it will maintain the flock in a much better state of general healthfulness.

There are several proprietary dips on the market which can be used successfully at a moderate cost. Standard dips of this kind are generally used in the proportion of one part of dip to forty parts of water, making a 2½ per cent solution. The best and most effective time to dip sheep is about ten days after shearing. It will take much less of the solution and be far more effective. Dipped in this way the sheep can be put through the tank very rapidly, while if they are dipped for scab or while the wool is on they should be immersed several times and held under, excepting the head, from one and one-half to two minutes. In case of sheep scab all should be loosened so that the dip will thoroughly penetrate the exposed parts.

In the actual construction of a dipping tank the aim should be to provide for efficient dipping and still not have the tank so large as to require an excessive amount of dip. If properly constructed the saving of dip will prove to be an item during the season.

The ordinary galvanized iron tank is the one in most common use, but it is not as lasting as a tank built of brick and then cemented, or the solid concrete vat built in a mold or form. This will cost more, but will last a lifetime, and there will be no bulging or leaking if the masonry work has been properly done. A tank 10 feet long at the top, 4 feet long at the bottom, 20 inches wide at the top and 8 inches wide at the bottom, and 4½ feet deep will answer every purpose. The tank should be set 4 to 8 inches above ground to keep out surface drainage and filth. All necessary equipment for dipping should be located convenient to the yards or lots where the stock is kept. This will make frequent dipping less trouble and expense. The animal should be dropped buttock first into the disinfecting solution. A draining floor should be provided.

A Good Ration.

A good ration for a horse that is troubled with indigestion is mixed as follows: Ground oats and corn, five pounds each; four ounces of oil meal, two ounces of salt, a dessertspoonful of powdered gentian and a six ½ teaspoonful of dried sulphate of iron. If the animal refuses this ration a little starvation will make him taste it, when his dislike will cease. Begin with a small quantity of this ration for each meal and increase it gradually until a full ration is being fed.

Supply Good Bedding.

A plentiful supply of dry bedding, not only makes it more comfortable for the animal to lie down and rest, but adds to its warmth and in every

She Stayed in Bed.

Ingram, Tex.—"Ever since I became a woman," writes Mrs. E. M. Evans, of this place, "I suffered from womanly troubles. Last fall I got so bad, I had to stay in bed for nearly a week every month. Since I have taken Cardui, I feel better than I have for years." You can rely on Cardui. It acts on the womanly organs and helps the system to regain its normal state of health, in a natural way. Prepared especially for women, it prevents womanly pains, by acting on the cause, and builds up womanly strength in a natural way. Purely vegetable. Mild, but certain in action. Try it. ### Snow-Proof Boots.

Members of arctic expeditions have found that gum boots are not proof against the entrance of moisture for snow water seems to penetrate the rubber where the boots are in more or less constant use for a long period of time. This is prevented by an occasional application of shellac, which effectively keeps the moisture out, even when subjected to the hardest wear. Shellac can also be made use of to advantage in coating the thongs of snow shoes for the purpose of resisting the moisture when moving over the wet snow. The shoes thus treated enable the men to make much better headway over the snow with less effort. The thongs which have been treated with shellac are also said to dry out quicker after use than others.

Home-Made Ointment.

The following is a recipe for a simple home-made ointment, which is excellent for applying to cuts and bruises: One teaspoonful each of olive oil, turpentine, spirits of camphor and coal oil. Of course, any amount desired may be made, but the proportion must be as given here.

Grease the Cords.

To prevent window blind cords breaking, dust the cords and then rub them over with a well-greased rag. The snapping is caused by friction which impoverishes the cords, and they are further weakened by the sun and weather.
